

Globethics.net Global Competition 2015 on Responsible Leadership

Who?	University students (bachelor, master, doctoral) and young professionals living or studying in one of the countries covered in the nine Globethics.net Regional Programmes (found at www.globethics.net/about-us/regional-programmes) are invited to submit their contributions.*
How?	Contributors are invited to submit either a scientific paper or a contribution in the form of a poem, song, video or other meaningful artistic expression.
What?	The overall theme is “Responsible Leadership”. Around the world, trust in leaders in politics, business, education, civil society, religious organisations, families, the media, etc. is undermined by the abuse of power, corruption, lack of accountability and reliability. On the other hand, many leaders are executing their power in a responsible way. Contributions have to deal with the topic from an ethical, values-based perspective and orientation. Contributions should be if possible specific and contextual. Possible areas of study (as suggestions) are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Characteristics, values and virtues of a responsible (and an irresponsible) leader; - How (e.g. as an electorate) to make leaders accountable and responsible; - Examples of responsible leaders and their ethical justification/evaluation; - Specific aspects of responsible leadership by sector (e.g. business, a specific institution, a profession, a religious community etc.); - Specific aspects of responsible leadership: gender, age, culture, religion, philosophy, ideology; - Responsible leadership and philanthropy and their impacts on politics, economics and decisions in the global sphere; and Leadership in managing resources (financial, natural, spiritual, intellectual etc.).
When?	Submit your contribution in electronic form (paper, video, audio) by email by 30 April 2015 at the latest to the contact in your region as given below.
Language	Contributions can be submitted in English or in the language of the Regional Programme (Indonesian in Indonesia, Chinese in China, French in Francophone Africa, Swahili in East-Africa, Spanish in South America and Russian in Russia, Turkish in Turkey).
